

A Career in Aged Care

Support Australia's ageing population

Aged Care in Australia

As a result of our rapidly ageing population, Aged Care is one of the few industries where job security and new opportunities are near guaranteed. In fact, it is estimated that by 2018, the number of job openings for Aged Carers will be greater than 50,000.

What does a Personal Carer do?

A personal, or aged care worker, provides personal, physical and emotional support to their patients. This career opens up a range of potential career outcomes, including: an assistant in nursing, care worker, community care worker, home care assistant or residential care worker.

Who will I work with?

Allied health professionals

Other carers

Where will I work?

As a personal, or aged care worker, you'll find that your workplace can vary. You could find yourself working across:

Residential Care Homes

Private Homes or Facilities

Community Care Homes

So how do I get there?

With a nationally recognised Certificate IV in Aged Care Support from Health Industry Training you will equip you with the necessary knowledge, skills and practical experience to work within a residential aged care facility or home and community care.

Health Industry Training

Nationally Recognised Qualifications

Flexible Study Options

Fee Assistance Programs

Talk to an advisor 1300 381 415

Inspiring students to achieve!